THE JUNK BAY MILLS.

The formal opening of the new flour mills which have been erected by the inspiration and enterprise of Mr. A. H. Rennie took place yesterday afternoon, when His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, in proposing the toast "Success and prosperity to the Junk Bay mills" made several felicitous and appropriate comments on the significance of the occasion. He put the thing in a nutshell when he expressed the opinion, which we entirely endorse, that one and all resident in the Colony and dependent on its material success for our individual prosperity should foster and promote to the best of our ability the industries of the Colony, and we cannot do that better than by giving practical proof of our acceptance of Mr. May's advice in adopting the product of Mr. Rennie's mills to the exclusion of other brands. This may seem a somewhat selfish and near-sighted policy; but in these days of competition we are bound to follow, to a certain extent, the principle pursued by other countries, and "keep our ain fish guts for our ain sea maws." At present, the intention of the promoters of the new undertaking is to produce flour for the South China market, but later, when the various brands are known and appreciated, and have had the necessary time to get into favour with the consumers, the Northern market will be reached by an attempt to invade that market; while Vladivostok will not be outside the ramifications of the flour mill. When that time arrives and the Junk Bay mills' products have found their radius, with Vladivostok in the north and Nanning in the south, then the success of Mr. Rennie's mills will be an accomplished fact from a financial point of view, and the attractive pile of buildings which have been reared at Junk Bay will have an enhanced value in the eyes of those who have the welfare of the Colony at heart. It has only to be added, in conclusion, that the enterprise is a tribute to British energy in the Far East, for it was conceived by British heads, given form by British capital, and it will be mainly operated by British skill.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

Man's inhumanity to man is a subject on which, however much may have been written, there is always something left to say. But there was another subject, or cause of discussion apparently arising in our midst, regarding which there appeared to be much more to say, and that was "woman's confidence in man." The Colony appeared so full of it—it appeared everywhere in evidence—scarcely a day passed that the Press was not called upon to record instances of woman's blind confidence in man, as exemplified by their unhesitatingly handing over jewellery and articles worth anything up to $100 or $200, to complete strangers, in exchange for—what?—a bundle, the contents of which they knew not, but which they were told contained banknotes of immense value, which statement they unquestioningly accepted, and which notes they were requested to change for silver as the strangers, "innocent countrymen," did not know how to go about the business! The strangers were not to accompany the women—oh, no! it was not necessary for them to learn the ins and outs of money-changing, as they were returning to their country immediately, and there were no money-changers there. What simple faith! what trusting confidence! The woman leaves behind her in the hands of men she has never seen before in her life, what probably constitutes her entire worldly goods—the result of the saving, slaving, starving and stinting through many a long year of deprivation and self-denial. She goes to the changer's shop, and what does she discover? It is scarcely necessary to say that her roll of banknotes "of high value," prove to be but worthless blank papers, of the cheapest sort. "Oh, poor woman," says the sympathetic bystander, as she rushes back to find the men who have played such a dastardly trick on her—men who, in the majority of cases, are never seen again. "What a shame to rob a poor, hard-working woman in that way," says the sympathetic reader, as he or she peruses the details of the occurrence over his or her soup. That is one side of the picture, but like all pictures of human experiences, there is another side, which a case which occurred yesterday, was indirectly, the cause of our getting a peep at. In this latest (but undoubtedly not last, case, a married woman, living at No. 5 Torsion Street, West Point, was walking along Queen's Road yesterday at 1 p.m. when she was accosted by two men who asked her, suavely and politely, if she would be so very kind as to direct them to Jervois Street. Happening to be going in that direction herself she invited the men to accompany her. Before proceeding, however, one of the men told the usual story of finding a bundle of banknotes, and made the usual request, and the woman, as security, gave him rings, bangles and earrings to the value of $100, and then went off to change the "notes," in a most obliging manner. But was she duped, or did she intend to dupe her dupers? Did she intend to return with the change? True, she had left $100 worth of jewellery with them, but what was that against the "several hundred" she was asked to change? These questions were answered in a conversation with some of the old and experienced Inspectors of Police, and the answer was an emphatic assertion that the woman was not the "taken" but the intending "taker in," and the grounds for their conclusion were several cases in which the women, upon reporting the cases to the Police, admitted that they took the "bundles of banknotes" to their homes first, instead of to the money-changers, which is a significant fact; and others in which they made the discovery of the trick that had been played upon them by inquisitively opening the packages long before they came in sight of even the nearest changer! Would they have done this if their intentions were honest? We venture to think not—at least in the vast majority of cases. The "confidence trick" is a very common one in India, where it is practised by means of burnished brass balls, with which the mendacious adventurers approach such of their countrymen as appear to be prosperous and pursy, and tell a tale of loss, and explain how they are "pilgrims from a far country," stranded through that loss. Here, again, the greed of gold enters in, for the so-called "gold" beads are offered at what would palpably be but a tenth of their intrinsic value, were they of genuine metal, and are accordingly snapped up by the intended victims. Looking, then, at the intention, it would appear that, far from extending any sympathy to these women, when it is proved that they go straight home with the "notes" with the very evident intention of stealing them, they deserve punishment equally with their accusers, and all such cases should be strictly investigated in future, and the women meted out justice instead of sympathy.

The contractor is now hard at work on the extension of Sandakan Wharf which is to be completed in seven months. It is being very considerably lengthened and carried out another 20 feet.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE Sau Wah Fong alleged assault case came to a termination at the Police Court, this forenoon, when the summons and cross-summons between H. Small and the Indian was amicably settled, compensation being offered in order to close the incident.

THE new buildings at Kuda—sixteen in number—are progressing rapidly, and in another two months or so there will be a great change—many of the unsightly thatched houses are already down and the whole lot will disappear when the shops are finished.

A LONDON evening paper says:—"As to the trouble over the exclusion of Japanese children from the State schools of San Francisco, if President Roosevelt prevails, and San Francisco has to repent in sackcloth and ashes, it will only be necessary to provide the sackcloth."

THE Roumanian Ministry for Foreign Affairs announces that the Government has received intimation of the adherence of the following amongst other British Colonies and protectorates to the Anglo-Roumanian Treaty of Commerce of October, 1905:—Hongkong, Straits Settlements, and Wei-hai-wei.

A STOCK Exchange correspondent writes:—"Great amusement was caused in the 'House' by a member (who is also a member of the Salvation Army) making a collection for the latter institution. He was requested to march round the floor of the 'House,' beating a tambourine, in order to swell his collection, and on his compliance the money poured in from every direction, and was acknowledged by a speech from the gratified recipient."

THE Shell Transport and Trading Company, Limited, notify the holders of share warrants to bearer that, in accordance with the resolution of the Board, an interim dividend of one shilling per share in respect of the year ending December 31, 1906, will be payable at the Capital and Counties Bank, Limited, 39, Threadneedle-street, E.C. 2, on and after January 1, 1907. The ordinary share transfer books was closed from 20th to 31st ult., inclusive.

CARL Calbrechts, an unemployed seaman, residing in the Sailors' Home, West Point, was charged before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, this morning, at the Police Court, with behaving in a disorderly manner whilst drunk in the Home yesterday. The defendant, who pleaded guilty to the charge, attempted to assault Mr. Gould, the assistant manager, but floored a policeman, who came to the latter gentleman's rescue, instead. He was fined $3, with the option of seven days, which he preferred.

WHILE a labourer, who was on a scaffolding, was engaged in attending to some work in connection with the new French Convent's building, Wong-ni-chong Road, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, he slipped, lost his hold, and fell to the ground, a distance of some fourteen feet. His fellow-workmen, who were about the place, saw the accident. He was temporarily attended to and later sent to the Tung Wah Hospital. The labourer sustained some injuries to his thigh and side, but is not in a serious condition.

A CARGO-boat, No. 851H, sailed into port early yesterday morning and sank her mud hooks on the Praya, at East Point. The police pinnace, P.C. Bird in charge, followed the junk to her anchorage and when the officer boarded her he found a case which only a magistrate could settle. The junk had a cargo of kerosene oil aboard, but she flew no red flag at her mast, neither was the cargo covered with a serviceable tarpaulin. The skipper was taken in tow and in the ordinary course found his way before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, at the Police Court, this morning, who priced the junk master's forgetfulness at $70 only.

A SUIT for mal de mer is somewhat of a novelty in law, but such a suit has, according to a New York message to London papers, been filed in the former city. The dispatch states that Mrs. Riwka Schien, a German subject, has entered suit against the North German Lloyd Steamship Company for £394 damages for seasickness. Mrs. Schien recently travelled from Bremen to New York on the steamer Chemnitz. She was very ill in consequence of the excessive rolling of the ship and also, she claims, owing to the inattention of the employees. Mrs. Schien reached her home in a state of exhaustion, and after consulting her lawyer decided to sue the steamship company.

MESSRS. Caird and Co. launched on the 18th ult. from their shipyard at Greenock the Nore, a twin-screw steamship of 6,700 tons, constructed to the order of the P. and O. Steamship Company. The chief measurements of the new vessel are: Length, 450 ft.; breadth, 52 ft.; depth, 30 ft. 6 in. Like her sister ship, the Nore will have spacious, sheltered promenade decks, comfortable dining, music, and smoking saloons, and accommodation for 500 first and 40 second class passengers, who will be berthed in "outside" cabins on the main-deck. She is the last to be completed of the four ships of the "N" class designed for the company's improved direct intermediate service between London and Japan.

"THE night was cold, and I went there to sleep," was the excuse tendered Mr. F. A. Hazeland, this morning, at the Police Court, by Chan Tak, who was charged with being a rogue and vagabond. The defendant, who has a previous conviction, was found on the third floor of No. 186, Des Voeux Road Central, engines burn liquid fuel, and it was with contempt occupied by a shopkeeper—early this morning they consumed no other than British products. The shopkeeper saw the defendant, came searching about the room and calling for help. The oil, on the authority of Mr. Rennie, came gave the intruder in charge. His Worship, who was emphatic in reminding us—was part of the furniture of the British Dominions. The principal exponent of the virtues of Junk Bay flour to the Chinese are the Hon. Mr. Wei Yuk and Tang Lan Kuk, joint com-

HONGKONG INDUSTRY.

REFLOUR MILLS.

OPENING.

It was William Des Voeux, then Governor of the Colony, who wrote to the Rightable Lord Knutsford, at that time Secretary of State for the Colonies, in 1889, that "while commerce is, and must for a long time be the principal element of the Colony's life, it is from manufacture that may be the greatest progress of Hongkong future." Writing at that date Governor Voeux, in recapitulating the industrial Colony, observed:—"Already we have established in the last few years sugarworks which are doing an exceedingly and apparently prosperous business; moreover, ship and boat building, rope works, ice works (now doing export trade) and some thirty more." Between 1889 and 1907 many have been wrought and the expansion of Hongkong has proceeded by leaps and bounds it is true, but steady growth which marks the sure success. Within the island itself have been added Cotton Mills, which by adversity in the earlier stages of its life are now fortunately established dividend-paying basis. The Aberdeen factory is a feature of the industrial life of Hongkong, while the Deep Bay and tile works have grown much beyond its original establishment. Its power of development has grown a mammoth factory until the consp. smoke-stacks of its patent kilns stand in bold relief against the once "und waste of undulating red rock," as is on the mainland were described by William Des Voeux. Beyond the Cotton Mills, which rank to-day among the prosperous and the most important industries, and far beyond the boundaries of Kowloon—the Ultima Thule of the dependency in 1897—there can be seen from this side of Hongkong the buildings on the shore line which the objective of an official visit yesterday afternoon from the Hon. Mr. F. J. C. M.G., the Officer Administering the Government, and party. Amongst most recent and not the least important means of the promising industries, with the port's shipping, are the mills of Hongkong's prosperity, the Flour at Junk Bay take the forefront rank. Common knowledge that the Hongkong Co., Ltd.—as the new concern is designated—owes its inception to the brain of the one man in Hongkong who has the courage, in spite of much able opposition, to conceive and carry out a project which is a triumph of the imagination. Cost is than a round million. That man, other than Mr. A. H. Rennie, than who is better known and more highly esteemed in Hongkong. To his creative genius administrative abilities the Hon. Mr. May just tribute of praise. And it is little that official cognisance should be given of such public-spirited citizens, since to the enterprise of such a man and indomitable energy and unshrinking courage the face of strenuous commercial rivalries of hundreds of thousands of dollars are at stake for an enterprise which is not yet out of the domain of the speculative. We say the term "speculative" in a qualified, and well mindful of the keen competition which will be brought to bear by mill-owners of the Pacific slope to render the struggle supremacy of the South China market for one calling for the combined energies of the members of the Hongkong Company to enter to secure. That they have the ability and will more important the determination to fight a bitter issue, our representative's short conversation with an official of the Company at the waters to and from Junk Bay yesterday afternoon, leaves no room to doubt the survival of the fittest.

MR. RENNIE'S COADJUTORS. Mr. Rennie, from his own admission, has had rare good fortune of meeting with most valued coadjutors from the inception of what he termed his "ideal." In Sir Paul Chater and Mr. H. N. Mody he found from the very outset two partners whose unlimited confidence in their helmsman justified the placing of their trust in his hands. Combined with these strings in his hands. Combined with his own financial resources we have the result to-day in the magnificent plant, faultlessly constructed and capably run, on the outskirts of the island's environment. In connection with the new concern of the official function yesterday could be complete with the omission of the architects, Messrs. Leigh and Orange, who made decks, comfortable dining, music, and smoking saloons, and accommodation for 500 first and 40 second class passengers, who will be berthed in "outside" cabins on the main-deck. She is the last to be completed of the four ships of the "N" class designed for the company's improved direct intermediate service between London and Japan.

THE CHINESE CONSTITUENTS. The principal exponent of the virtues of Junk Bay flour to the Chinese are the Hon. Mr. Wei Yuk and Tang Lan Kuk, joint com-producers to the Company. Mr. Wei Yuk has already succeeded in winning the sympathies of a large circle of the Chinese flour merchants in Hongkong and he entertains no doubt that when once the nutritious value and whiteness of the local product are seen to compare more than favourably with the imported stuff, Junk Bay flour and no other will be the favourite brand in every Chinese home.

In dealing with the Chinese we must not lose sight of the importance of "trade marks" with these people. The selection of the various designs has been most judiciously made. The "Cakes" symbolizes a Chinese marriage festival as also is the "11 wels Pigs" associated with the convivial board. The "Mills" depicts Junk Bay Mills, and the "Fire" is named after Mr. Rennie's residence on Bowen Road. Similarly, every trade-mark is designed with a purpose and with the special object of captivating the good graces of Chinese consumers.

THE EXCURSION.

To the founder of the Hongkong Milling Co. our representative owes the courtesy of an invitation to accompany the official party over the works yesterday. The fine yacht-like launch Canada belonging to the Company was placed at the disposal of the gubernatorial party. It included His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government and Mrs. May, Mr. and Mrs. Rennie, the Hon. Mr. W. Chalmers (Director of Public Works), Sir Paul Chater, Major and Mrs. Chitty, Mr. H. E. R. Hunter (Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation) and Miss Hunter, Dr. Thorneycroft, of Kobe, Messrs. J. Orange, (Messrs. Leigh and Orange), H. N. Mody, George Hastings (of the firm of the Company's solicitors, Messrs. Hastings and Hastings), T. P. Cochrane (Manager, Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China), and A. J. Raymond (manager, Messrs. E. D. Sassoon & Co.). The party boarded the Canada at 2.30 p.m. at Murray Pier, the white flag with the green maple leaf on the foremast and the Colonial ensign astern.

The prospective Chinese constituents of the mills and friends took their departure from the Hongkong side at 2 p.m. on board the chartered Kwong Sing. The Hon. Mr. Wei Yuk officiated as host to his compatriots; they were Messrs. Tang Lan Kuk, Au Yung Kit, Hung On, Mok Kwai Fong, Ho Yung Kai, To Min Chau, Poon Sung Ku, Li Kwang Sun, Choi Kwun Ng, Dr. Ho Lok Kum, Dr. Ho Nai Ching, Messrs. Ngan Hung Po, Chok Chup Tung, Wei Wing Hing, Poon Pak Wan (Tak Cheong), Ho Hun, etc. The Kwong Sing arrived at Junk Bay about 3 p.m. Within half-an-hour the Canada hove in sight and by 3.30 p.m. was made fast to the Mill Pier. The landing of the gubernatorial party was signalled by the red ensign being hoisted down from the flagstaff and the Union Jack being hoisted up.

Mr. Rennie personally assumed the rôle for the occasion of technical cleverness to the guests, and a very efficient and instructive one he proved to be. The party was first conducted to the ground floor of the extensive buildings. Here the clutch, which controls the entire milling machinery, suitably draped in red as also was the fly-wheel, was released by Mr. May, thus setting in motion, in his official representative capacity, the counterparts of a structure which constitute the motive power for the new industry of Hongkong. The official ceremony performed, the members of the party in turns ascended to the top floor by the patent man-hoist within the building.

ACCIDENT TO MR. MODY.

Nearly all the guests had successfully accomplished their journey when Mr. H. N. Mody stepped on to the platform. The band which revolves round the shafts at each end carries the passenger up, who meanwhile stands secure on the footboard and holding on to the steel handle attached to the travelling belt. As each passenger arrives at the top floor he steps off the platform. This Mr. Mody apparently did not do in time, and, as briefly noted in our last evening's issue, met with a slight accident in consequence. He jumped off a trifle too late and landed on the floor on his back, injuring himself by the fall. Dr. Thorneycroft, one of the guests, came promptly to Mr. Mody's aid, and Mr. Rennie was also solicitous of the gentleman's condition which, fortunately, did not prove to be as serious as it was at first thought. Though Mr. Mody lost consciousness for a while, by the administration of stimulants he was soon brought round and conveyed in a stretcher on board the Canada which steamed back for Hongkong at once. Sir Paul Chater and Mr. Raymond, both of whom exhibited much concern for their friend, accompanied Mr. Mody on the return journey. Dr. Thorneycroft also returned with Mr. Mody. On inquiries at the office of Mr. H. N. Mody this afternoon, we were informed that that gentleman is progressing very favourably to-day, and there is no fear of complications supervening.

The visitors then continued their tour of inspection and were explained all the various technicalities of the works. The storage godowns were then visited including the bag sewing and printing department, and lastly the manager's office. In front of the offices a hose was attached to the water service with a view of demonstrating the efficiency of the fire-extinguishing appliances. Turning a tap Mr. Rennie caused a fine stream of water to play on the awnings of a launch made fast to the bamboo pier some fifty feet distant.

THE TEA.

The party, then boarded the Kwong Sing and were conveyed to the Maple Leaf, formerly the S. P. Hitchcock. In her altered appearance the Maple Leaf resembles a large receiving ship; and anchored in the placid waters of the bay she serves the eminently useful purpose of housing the Chinese workmen and the European foremen. The appointments and the sleeping deck with its hundreds of hammocks in suspension for the labourers were generally commented upon for their remarkable neatness and orderliness. Indeed these are features in every department of the Mills as well as on the Maple Leaf. She is lighted, it may be mentioned by the way, by electricity.

From the Maple Leaf the guests witnessed the return of the labouring gang who on the stroke of three knocked off work for the day. They were taken across the water in a due big rig.

Tea was served to the guests on the promenade deck, the host himself leading the way to the numerous "boys" in attending to one and all without exception.

"PROSPERITY TO THE MILLS."

When glasses had been changed, His Excellency said—On behalf of all your guests this afternoon I wish to thank you for your kindness in bringing us here and in giving us such an instructive afternoon. I think we are all agreed that we were very much interested in what we have seen. I think we are all agreed that the establishment we have just gone over is one of the best organized and well-conducted we have ever seen. We admire the genius of the man who conceived it and his administrative ability is evidenced in every bit of the work we have just gone over. We have partaken of the Junk Bay scones. Speaking for myself I think every resident in Hongkong ought to swear from this day forward to do nothing else but eat Junk Bay scones. (Applause.) Speaking personally, it is the best scone I ever ate in my life. There is nothing like supporting our own little Colony. I do not think that any one could take exception to us if we register that vow and stick to it; and if it brings prosperity to the institution that we have just visited, each one of us will be only too glad. I wish now to drink the very good health of Mr. and Mrs. Rennie, and wish prosperity and success to the Junk Bay Flour Mill.

MR. RENNIE'S REPLY.

Mr. Rennie said in reply—Your Excellency, ladies and gentlemen.—To say that your kind remarks are very flattering to the energy displayed by all concerned in this enterprise does not half express my feelings. I am more delighted than I can tell you that I have been enabled to turn out flour in this short space of time. Had I not had the good fortune to pick out the very best of partners—Sir Paul Chater and Mr. Mody—who have given me a free hand throughout, I am confident I could not have accomplished my ideal—the Junk Bay Flour Mills—in the time. It must not be forgotten that in starting an enterprise of this sort one must be most careful in the selection of the staff. The engineers are the first consideration. I will tell you about the engineer-in-chief later. Our Diesel oil engines are the most marvellously constructed. When I bought them one kind gentleman in Hongkong who is not particularly friendly to our institution suggested that we should put them between Gaupps and Falconers, as they would require constant repairs. They have not cost us a moment's trouble, but a great many dollars. They are most economical and cost less than one-third of any other engines made. They are very easily run. (Mr. Carnegie said, when he asked how it was that his Pittsburgh iron mine paid 35 per cent. in the year that he sold it and only three per cent. last year. "They bought the mine but not the men." I bought the Diesel engines and the Swiss engineer, Mr. Steiner, who helped to build them. He is here for three years. He understands them and he installed them. They have never given us a moment's trouble. I think it was a very good stroke. Mr. Shank, our chief millwright, who installed the milling plant entirely, is a genius. The Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co. have come to my aid at any time, day or night, and have supplied all the shafting and iron work. I believe they can make anything in the way of machinery equal to any produced in the world. As to my friend, Mr. Orange, who personally assisted at the installation of every large iron pillar in concrete, and worked side by side with men for hours a day for twelve months, I think the praise is due to him and not to me as far as the building is concerned. His assistance was invaluable, and I am sorry that he is not going to stay here instead of going home in the summer. He is too young and is perhaps afraid of his complexion. (Laughter.) If any errors in judgment have crept in I am solely to blame, and will not shrink the responsibility. I can only thank you for the kind remarks made. I know you have always had this enterprise in your mind, and furthered its interest from its inception.

On the call of Mr. Rennie three cheers were given to the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. May.

The party then re-embarked on the Kwong Sing and the homeward trip was commenced at 5.45 p.m. A few minutes after the start the Canada was on her way back to fetch the official party who passed over to her, and reached Hongkong, at 6.30 p.m., after a delightful afternoon excursion.

A MYSTERIOUS OBSTRUCTION.

OWNER BADLY WANTED.

A very amusing case was that which was heard at the Police Court, yesterday forenoon, when the manager of the Shanghai Hotel was summoned by Mr. Dillon, land bailiff, for encroaching on Crown land, in Connaught Road West, by storing a quantity of stones there.

Mr. P. W. Goldring, of Messrs. Goldring and Darlow, who represented the defendant, denied the charge, saying that the stones did not belong to his client.

His Worship—Well, then, to whom do they belong?

Mr. Dillon—If they do not belong to the defendant, they are the property of the contractor.

Mr. Goldring—I understand the property belongs to the Government, your Worship. (Laughter.)

Mr. Dillon said he asked several men who were engaged in "dressing stones" on that piece of land whom they were employed by, but they would not say.

His Worship—It is always the case. They never tell. Are there many stones there?

Sergeant Gordon—No, your Worship. A few barrels only. I can have them removed by coolies to No. 7 Station.

After further discussion in which both the police and the land bailiff tried to solve the mystery as to whom the stones belong, His Worship adjourned the case.

The United States Fleet at Kingston.

LONDON, 21st January.

Reuter's correspondent at Kingston, writing on the 19th instant, says:—It appears that the American bluejackets landed, patrolled the streets, assisted in clearing away the debris and attending the wounded, in spite of an intimation from Sir James Swettenham that their services were not required.

On the evening of the same day, Admiral Davis wrote detailing the work the bluejackets had done including their assistance in recovering some stolen jewellery, from which he judged that police surveillance was inadequate, and proposed to again land parties the next day unless Sir James Swettenham expressly desired otherwise. Thinking it possible that he could greatly assist private individuals without interfering with the authorities, he should similarly direct the doctors of the squadron to do their utmost to assist. The only object of the visit of the squadron was to render aid as it could, and he trusted that Sir James Swettenham would approve of actions actuated by common humanity.

Sir James Swettenham replied thanking the Admiral and saying that he heartily appreciated the kind assistance and generous offers; he did not object to a detachment guarding the Consulate, provided they were only armed with clubs, but he thought it his duty to ask for the re-embarkation of the working parties when he found the latter helping private individuals to clear stone.

He did not doubt that all owners would be glad of similar naval help to save them expense, but it was no longer a question of humanity. He was glad of the delivery of the jewellery, but believed that the police surveillance was quite adequate. The fact that the residence of a New York millionaire was pillaged in the summer during his absence would not justify a British Admiral landing a party to assist the New York police.

Admiral Davis paid a farewell call on Sir James Swettenham in the morning notifying him that the squadron was leaving, and adding that, in view of Sir James Swettenham's attitude in not desiring American aid, he had countermanded a shipload of beef which the Government was sending.

It is reported that the Admiral waited a quarter of an hour and was just leaving when Sir James Swettenham appeared and the squadron sailed in the afternoon.

CANTON DAY BY DAY.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 21st January.
Admiral Li Chun has taken over the position of the commander-in-chief of the army of the two Kwang provinces. He has now about seventy regiments under his command.

The paper and printed forms, etc., manufactured by the Government Paper Factory do not gain much popularity so far, owing to the unreasonable prices. The authorities are trying to lower the price in order to obtain the patronage of the public.

On the 20th instant two deputies were sent from the Bureau of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce to Ngau Shan, Whampoa, to inspect and survey a site there for the purpose of making the place into a port.

It is interesting to learn that a regiment stationed at Pang Hah, Fatsan, was attacked by a number of robbers on the midnight of the 19th instant whilst the soldiers were out on patrol. There were only a few soldiers left in the barracks at the time; they boldly offered resistance, but ultimately they were obliged to yield owing to the great violence of the robbers. All the ammunition was taken away by the robbers.

A telegram has been received here stating that the Shiu Wu Chu has decided to abolish the Registration and Cancellation Fees, and to abandon the scheme of making good the deficiency of the revenue by levying another tax.

RAIDS ON GAMBLING HOUSES.

THE MAGISTRATE KNEW THE GAME.

The Sai-ying-poon market, at West Point, was visited by a number of police officials from No. 7 Police Station, yesterday afternoon, in search of gamblers. This makes the third raid for the year. It is common knowledge among the police in that district that no sooner does business get dull than the butchers and other men in charge of different stalls retire to the back of the building to gamble, leaving some youngsters, who have more impudence than anything else, to look after affairs while they are away. Knowing that after one o'clock in the afternoon business would be slack, Sergeant Gordon yesterday secured a warrant, got together a number of men, whose appearance gave one the impression that they were ruffians, and started for the market men's rendezvous. There are three entrances to the market. The lukongs attacked the place at the Second and Third Streets entrance, while another gang entered through the main door. In this way none of the gamblers had a chance of escaping, and the nine men who were playing pat-kau in the cook-house were seized, together with the gambling implements, and $5.30 which was found on the table. Two of the men were arraigned before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, this morning, at the Police Court, charged with running a gambling house, the remainder being indicted for gambling.

After two lukongs had contradicted themselves in the witness-box, which went clearly to show that none of them knew how the game was played, his Worship gave them each to understand that he knew the game, and after giving them the colours of different cards, which he knew by heart, and in which they were at fault, he found the two alleged leaders not guilty of running a gambling house, but guilty of gambling. Inspector Collett stated that the police had raided this place several times before, but that it was difficult to make a capture.

"The constables are known to them," remarked his Worship.

"They are dressed like coolies," said the inspector.

The accused had to pay $7 each.

A SMALL AFFAIR.

About an hour after the above raid was carried out, Detective Sergeant Morrison, together with a gang of Chinese policemen, raided house No. 21, Stanton Street, by virtue of a warrant, and seized eight men and the gambling outfit. They were arraigned before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, this morning, when the two leaders were mulcted in the sum of $25 each, the remainder contributing $2 apiece.

THE CHILD'S MISTAKE.

A house—No. 15, Square Street—which has been suspected by the police as being the meeting place for gamblers was raided at seven o'clock last evening by Sergeant Morrison and a number of detectives. As soon as the officers entered the house, a woman, who was seen around the table taking part in the game which was then in progress, dashed into her bedroom and jumped into bed, covering herself, and pretending to be asleep. She and thirteen men were arrested. When they were paraded before Mr. C. A. D. Melbourne, this forenoon, at the Police Court, the woman and two of the men were charged with keeping a gambling house and the remainder with gambling.

The sergeant who conducted the raid, after giving an account of the arrest, said that in the room where the gambling was being carried on he found a child. He asked it where were its parents and as a reply pointed to the second and third defendants. That went to prove that the second and third defendants were man and wife and that they rented the flat.

"No, that is not true," said the couple together, when they heard the latter part of the evidence, "the child made a mistake!"

His Worship found the two men guilty and fined them $50 each, he being of opinion that as the woman was the wife of the second accused she could not be held guilty of running the house. The others, including the woman, however, were fined $2 each for gambling.

HAMBURG-AMERIKA LINIE.

PASSENGER SERVICE.

By the new steamers "RHENANIA," "HABSBURG," and "HOHENSTAUFEN." These steamers offer to the public the highest comfort yet attained in ocean travelling. They are especially built for the tropics with very large well ventilated cabins, amidships, lighted throughout by electricity, fans provided in each cabin. The berths are not arranged one above the other as it has been the fashion hitherto, but the staterooms closely resemble ordinary sleeping-rooms on shore, the berths standing like beds at either side of the cabins. As a novelty, a number of cabins are provided for single passengers. These steamers call at NAPLES and PLYMOUTH. In addition to the above steamers, the s.s. "SILESIA" and "SCANDIA" carry first class passengers. Return Tickets issued at reduced Rates, through tickets issued to NEW YORK via NAPLES, SOUTHAMPTON, and HAMBURG.

Here, Mr. Peel pays his bill, and orders a luncheon.

home on the top of an omnibus.—By John F. Macdonald in the Morning Leader.

PARLIAMENT AND MATRIMONY.

of the Lords and Commons in a speech at the City of London Tradesmen's Club on 14th inst. He looked, he said, at matrimony from the outside, and with the impartiality of an external observer. He noticed that that union did not necessarily produce absolute and continuous harmony any more than the other, yet both institutions, he was ready to believe, succeeded and were alike desirable for the benefit of the citizens. If matrimony was to succeed, good manners should be adopted on both sides, with mutual consideration and mutual respect. Occasionally we saw that the most loud-mouthed and blustering member of a more or less united couple had to pay for external and public triumphs by very substantial concessions in private. It was not always the best method of getting one's own way to adopt the most aggressive method; aggressive manners, and to employ the loudest language. That moral he recommended to all husbands and to all wives from the serene platform of the confirmed bachelor. Might he recommend from less impartial standpoint the same excellent maxim to the two legislative bodies?
